Notice. To L. of L. to meet in their hall to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock on important business. By order of the president.

Immense stock of holiday goods now being opened at Bee Hive.

Material Progress. Among the many evidences of the material progress being made in Montana is the new railway now being surveyed into the rich copper district on Camp creek. Montana people are always alive to business opportunities. In this hurry and strain upon the system we suggest to our friends that mild, pure beverage, Centennial beer.

Grand display of fine china at Bee Hive. Reduced prices under new tariff.

The "Star" oil heater will heat a room 15x12 in the coldest weather. H. J. Blume.

Invest a few dollars in weather strips and save money in fuel. H. J. Blume.

Fresh ranch eggs, home made bread and creamery butter at Dan Tovey's new Southern hotel. Meals 25 cents.

Change of cars and waiting at junction points for through trains constitutes one of the chief annoyances of passenger travel, hence the popularity of the Northern Pacific which runs through cars direct to St. Paul and Minneapolis without change.

As the cold weather approaches and the smelter smoke becomes denser, the most natural inclination is to seek a warmer climate. This may be found in Southern California, where roses bloom the year round and living expenses are less than at home. Excursion tickets via the Union Pacific are on sale daily, and the trip via the U. P. and S. P. railways is the culmination of luxury.

No Through sleeping Cars. To Spokane, Seattle and other North Pacific coast points except via the Northern Pacific. Ticket office 23 East Broadway, Butte.

AS THE VOTERS VOTED

No Man Received a Majority of All Those Registered.

INCIDENTS OF THE FIGHT

Fred Wilson Spent Some of His Energy Where It Didn't Do Any Good—Getting Even With Colman.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—Supposing that the registration of 11,500 represents the vote of Silver Bow county, the official figures show that a large percentage of Butte's voters did not care to exercise their right of franchise in all respects. The capital question brought out the most votes, 10,516, and fully 100 voters carefully folded up their capital ballot and deposited it in the box, without marking it. They evidently thought they were voting for something.

For congressman there were 1,000 in Silver Bow county who didn't care to vote on the question. The total vote for congress was 9,531, nearly 2,000 below the registration. For associate justice there were 300 less votes. The smallest number of votes cast was on county commissioner, only 6,896 having any choice as to who should conduct the affairs of the county.

The people evidently took greatest interest in the question of the next sheriff after the capital question, there being 9,961 votes for sheriff.

Not a single candidate in Silver Bow county was endorsed by the votes of a majority of the registered voters of the county. Nor in fact did any candidate receive a majority of the votes of those who went to the polls, calling the capital vote the total vote cast. Davies, for school superintendent, and Wines, for county attorney, received majorities of the votes cast for those offices, but did not secure one-half of the vote of the county. In all cases a minority of the total vote of the county elected the candidates for the county offices.

For state senator Leonard received 37 per cent. of the registered vote of the county. Reynolds for sheriff received 38 per cent. Johnson for county clerk received 40 per cent. Hill for treasurer received 32 per cent. Warfield for assessor was elected by 27 per cent. of the registered vote of the county, and Lisa for county commissioner received 13 per cent. of the registered vote of Silver Bow county.

It seems that a systematic boycott has been started in Helena against parties who supported Anaconda for the capital. Nelson Story's flour of Roseman has been put out of the Helena stores, and so has the Box flour of Great Falls. Sand Coulee coal is also on the Helena boycott list.

One man voted for Butte for the capital in the recent election. A Centerville man declared he was going to vote against Colman for sheriff and that was the only ticket he cared to vote. So he placed a big cross opposite Colman's name and boasted afterwards that he had got even with the man who once rendered a decision against him, anyway.

J. D. Lays and Dr. C. V. Norcross are drinking beer once more. They both swore a terrible oath that if Helena won the capital they would drink nothing but milk for 10 days after election. Their time is now up.

Fred Y. Wilson, the democratic candidate for county auditor, was beaten, but he had some experiences in campaigning which he will remember a good long time. One day he went down to Geoff Lavell's lumber yard and asked Geoff's permission to talk with his employees.

"Most certainly," said Geoff. "There are two voters right over there."

So Fred went over to talk to the voters and Geoff edged up behind a pile of lumber where he could listen to the conversation. Fred told about what a good man he was for county auditor, how honest he was, what a glorious thing the democratic party is and how he is strongly for free silver and free lumber, and if elected he would do his utmost to have the wages of employees of lumber yards advanced. That would be his first act. The two voters smiled and nodded but didn't say anything. Then Fred pulled out a bottle of whiskey and all took a drink. Then he opened a box of cigars and all smoked. Then he shook hands with the voters, and asked them to remember him on election day, when he caught the sound of suppressed laughter behind the lumber pile, starting to investigate he found Geoff Lavell doubled up on the ground in a spasm of hilarity.

"They are both deaf and dumb," gasped Geoff.

MEANEY HAS THE DOUGH.

Helena Paid Up and Now He Is Squaring His Old Accounts.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—The city of Helena is certainly taking good care of the men who were active in the support of that city in Butte. It is stated, on good authority, that yesterday Patrick Meaney received a check for $1,000 from the Helena capital committee in recognition of his services. Meaney was one of the foremost and most successful advocates of Helena in this city, and the recognition of his services is well deserved and timely. Mr. Meaney has a number of bills floating around Butte that have been unpaid for a number of years, and Mr. Meaney is now going around settling all these bills up. Credit should be given where it is due.

Court Calendar.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—The new calendar of the district court has just been issued and contains 100 civil cases that are ready for trial in Department L, and 90 civil cases and 45 criminal cases in Department II, that are at issue and ready for trial. Of all the divorce suits brought in this county there are but five on the calendar for trial, one in Judge McHatton's court and four in Judge Speer's. In all the other divorce cases there were no fights made by the defendants.

Dogs.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—Complaint is made by the residents in the neighborhood of the city pound, who claim that they are very much annoyed at the wailing cry displayed by the poundmaster in his method of dispatching the unfortunate dogs falling into his hands. The authorities should see that these poor brutes are killed in the least barbarous manner possible, instead of being ultimately shot and stoned to death, as it seems is now the practice.

ATTENDED HIS OWN FUNERAL.

Drummer Reached Home to Find Another Body Being Buried for His Own. Two drummers had scraped an acquaintance in a train. Both had told of experiences when one asked: "Did you ever attend your own funeral?"

"Why, no," replied the other. "Well, I have. It happened this way: I was in Buffalo three years ago and telegraphed my firm in Chicago that I would take a certain train for home that night. Luckily for me I changed my plans at the last moment and did not leave, some business having cropped up that would require my presence there for a few more days, and I telegraphed my firm accordingly. The train was smashed up in a collision, and a large number of persons were killed.

"I arrived at my home four days later, just as a funeral procession was leaving it. For a moment I was too astonished to move, but finally mustered up sufficient courage to ask a bystander whose funeral it was. What was my amazement to learn that it was my own. According to my informant I had been brought home two days previously, crushed and unrecognizable out of the wreck.

"The funeral cortege had got some distance away before I had recovered sufficiently to secure a conveyance to go in pursuit. Not wishing to create a scene in the street I determined to wait until the church was reached. I therefore fell into line and joined my own funeral procession.

"Arrived at the church the coffin was lifted out and carried up the aisle, and the burial service was just about to begin when I stepped to the chancel. My appearance created an instant panic, everybody tumbling over themselves to get out of the edifice. I was left alone with the officiating clergyman.

"In a few moments, however, my friends and relations began to come back into the church. I called to them and told them that far from being dead I was never more alive. Then explanations ensued. It appeared that my second telegram had never been received, and believing me to be in the wreck they had picked out the most likely looking corpse, as mine."—Chicago Times.

CAT THAT GOES FISHING.

It Rather Likes the Water and Enjoys the Sport Immensely.

Cats, as a rule, don't like water, but an Italian fisherman of San Francisco, named Michael, has a large Maltese cat named Joe that loves water as much as other cats love a rug in front of a grate fire.

While the boat is on the way to the fishing ground Joe lies still and doesn't mind how wet he gets or how much the little craft pitches about.

But when the seine, with its load of wriggling fish is hauled in, Joe's fun commences. He is most anxious to get hold of the largest, and will often jump into the net before it is landed.

When a big rock cod is thrown on the deck the cat is in its glory. He will run around and attempt to shake it as he would a mouse. The fish spreads out its fins and opens its mouth, and Joe gives it a twist by the tail that causes it to turn a dozen somersaults.

The cat gets wet and covered with scales, and possibly gets pricked several times with the spines of the fish, but seems to thoroughly enjoy the sport.

The cat seems to have no other idea in playing with the fish except sport, for it never attempts to eat the larger ones, but lives entirely on the small fish that are used for bait.

He Struck Oil Once.

"I see petroleum has been discovered up in Marion county and a company is buying up all the land in the neighborhood," remarked a rancher to a reporter of the San Francisco Post, and it was noticed that there was a tinge of incredulity in his tone.

"Yes, I believe they have struck oil up that way," was the corroborative evidence of his hearer.

"Well, I'll believe it when they commence piping it into the tanks, and not a minute before. I struck oil once."

"Yes, that's the way you made your fortune?"

"No, that's the way I made my fortune, which at the present time just lacks $2,000 of being a blamed cent. Those are my liabilities; assets nominal, as the paper says."

"How did it happen?"

"Well, it was this way: I had a mineral spring on my ranch up in Lake county, and the gas that came out of it used to kill the little birds that came to drink. 'Natural gas,' says I, and commenced poking around a little with a spade. Then a yellow, greasy scum formed on top of the water. 'Coal oil,' say I, and I commenced dreaming of tanks of petroleum and barrels of money. I got a cheap drilling outfit and bored a hole down about 80 feet, and all the neighbors sat around laughing at me, but I reckoned on having the last laugh.

"One morning when I went to work the hole smelled awful strong of coal oil, and the first lift brought up a lot of oil that burned for half an hour. 'I've struck oil,' says I to myself, but I kept quiet. I let a few of my friends in, we organized a company, bought up all the land around there, got an expensive outfit, and commenced drilling. We punched the ground full of holes for about six months, and couldn't find enough oil to make a grease spot on a silk dress. It broke the whole crowd of us."

"How did you chance to strike that little pocket of oil in the first place?"

"I just found out that one of the neighbors' boys poured a five-gallon can of oil in the hole one night to make me feel good, and, if anybody should ask you, you can tell them that I am feeling a blamed sight better than he is right now, for his dad went broke on it too, and we took turn about wallowing him."

AMONG BUTTE'S NEWSPAPER MEN

Changes Recently Made or That the Near Future Is to Bring.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—Several changes among the newspapers of Butte are noticeable since the election. To-day appeared the first number of the Sunday Mercury, which is a successor to The People. It is much the same kind of a paper, but is of eight pages and more attractive in appearance and more newsworthy. It has departments devoted to Butte, Philadelphia, Roseman and Missoula. Joe Wenrich is editor and proprietor.

The Populist Tribune and the Bystander, which ran daily during the campaign, are weekly once more. The proprietors of the Tribune, Messrs. Dunstan & Bates, announce that next week the paper will be enlarged to a five column quarto and otherwise improved. It will also hereafter omit the word "Populist" from its name and will be known merely as the Tribune.

The Editor attributes the lack of success of the populists in this county to lack of competent leadership. The Butte Bystander is also understood to be making arrangements for material improvement and is planning to run an afternoon daily with full press reports.

Press Woodruff is said to be arranging to start a weekly paper in Butte soon. It is to be devoted to secret societies and is to have a column of Woodruff's choicest humor every week.

Salvation Making Progress.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—The Salvation army in Butte has grown marvellously the past week or two. Before election it was difficult to get a procession up of more than eight or 10, but to-night the army had fully 20 men and women in line. A meeting was held in front of the California brewery and another in East Park street.

"Iron-Foot" Is Dead.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—"Iron-Foot" Johnson, one of the smoothest confidence men and bunco steers in the country, was run in to-night on a charge of vagrancy. He finally succeeded in getting bonds but the police propose to run him out of town.

Sneak Thieves at Work.

BUTTE, Nov. 18.—Sneak thieves went through the residences of F. J. Newstrom, near the Stevens mine, about 9 o'clock last evening, and secured a pair of opera glasses and a few trinkets. They gained an entrance through one of the windows.

Grand Masquerade Ball.

Will be given by Alta lodge No. 18, D. of E. A. O. U. W., at Hibernia hall, Centerville, Monday evening, Nov. 19, 1894. Tickets admitting one, 25 cents. Mrs. Robinson will furnish costumes at the hall.

Notice.

Members of Butte chapter No. 2 O. E. S. are requested to meet at the hall Monday, Nov. 19, at 12:30 p. m. to attend the funeral of Sister Thompson.
